AMERICAN SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION (ASA)

The American Sociological Association (ASA) is dedicated to encouraging sociology as a scientific discipline and profession serving the public good. The Department of Sociology at GWU encourages you to join the ASA as a STUDENT MEMBER. The ASA offers a variety of pamphlets and books on opportunities for Sociology majors, as well as information on grants and fellowships, conferences, publishing venues, and employment.

REQUIREMENTS OF SOCIOLGY MAJORS

In addition to the general curriculum requirements of the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, Sociology majors must satisfy the following requirements (39 credits total):

Prerequisite Sociology Course:
- Sociology 1001  Introduction to Sociology
- or SOC 1002*  The Sociological Imagination
  Note: Students may not earn credit for both courses.

Required Courses in Sociology:
- Sociology 2101*  Social Research Methods
- Sociology 2102*  Techniques of Data Analysis
- Sociology 2103*  Classical Sociological Theory
- Sociology 2104*  Contemporary Sociological Theory
- Sociology 4195  Senior Research Seminar

Seven additional 2100-level courses in Sociology, including two from the 2160s-2170s courses listed below:
- Sociology 2161  Sociology of Complex Organizations
- Sociology 2162  Sociology of the Family
- Sociology 2163  Sociology of Education
- Sociology 2165  Sociology of Religion
- Sociology 2167  Sociology of Law
- Sociology 2168  Economic Sociology
- Sociology 2169  Urban Sociology
- Sociology 2170  Class and Inequality
- Sociology 2173  Social Movements
- Sociology 2175  Sociology of Sex and Gender
- Sociology 2178  Deviance and Control
- Sociology 2179  Race and Minority Relations

(*) These courses meet GPAC requirements.
Please see the GW Bulletin and on-line course schedule for other 2100-level options.

A Note on Grades

Majors in all three degrees granted by the Department of Sociology (Sociology, Criminal Justice, and Human Services & Social Justice) are required to earn a grade of C- or better in any course in the major. If a student receives a grade of D+, D, or D- in a major course, the student may either option (1) repeat the course, in which case the grade in the repeated course must be no lower than a C- and grades for both the original and repeated courses would appear on the student’s transcript; or option (2) take a 2100-level course in the same department, in addition to the minimum number of courses required for the major, and earn a grade no lower than C-. Option 1 must be approved by the department chair in writing before the student may register for a course a second time. Option 2 must be approved by Prof. Eglitis, Director of the Undergraduate Program for Sociology (dainas@gwu.edu).
SENIOR RESEARCH CAPSTONE (SOC 4195)

Sociology 4195: Senior Research Seminar

Beginning in the Fall of 2014, all Sociology majors are required to complete Sociology 4195 in the senior year. Sociology 4195 (3 credits) replaces the previous requirement of Sociology 4197 (6 credits), which is no longer offered.

Students may take Sociology 4195 in either the Fall or Spring semester of their senior year. The course is limited to seniors, though exceptions may be made on a case-by-case basis. Please note, however, that students must have completed at least one research methods course (Sociology 2101 or 2102) and one theory course (Sociology 2103 or 2104) before registering for the senior research seminar. There are no exceptions to this requirement.

Sociology 4195 is a senior capstone course in which students bring together their accrued knowledge of sociological research methods, theory, and specialized topics in sociology and apply them to a comprehensive and advanced level empirical research project. A key goal of Sociology 4195 is to offer every graduate in the major the opportunity to leave the university with a thoughtful original, well-prepared sample of research and writing that reflects the student’s accrued knowledge and can serve as a high-quality writing sample for students seeking jobs or admission to a graduate program.

Each senior research capstone course will focus on a selected sociological subject (for instance, race, immigration, gender, the sociology of food, among others) and will be taught by faculty with expertise in the given area. Please note that students who have taken a regular subject area course in a particular topic may take a senior research seminar on a similar topic. For example, students who have completed Sociology 2179 (Race and Minority Relations) may register for a Sociology 4195 section on race and ethnicity. Topic area courses in Sociology 4195 will largely cover new materials, focusing on empirical research and methodological and theoretical approaches to the topic.
REQUIREMENTS OF SOCIOLOGY MINORS

In addition to the general curriculum requirements stated under the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, Sociology minors must satisfy the following requirements:

Eighteen hours of coursework, including:

- SOC 1001  Introduction to Sociology
  or SOC 1002  The Sociological Imagination
  Note: Students may not earn credit for both courses.

One of the following Sociology courses:

- SOC 2103  Classical Sociological Theory
- SOC 2104  Contemporary Sociological Theory

Four additional courses (12 credits) in SOC at the 2100-level, excluding 4192 and 4195

SPECIAL HONORS IN SOCIOLOGY

In addition to meeting the general requirements stated under University Regulations, a candidate for graduation with Special Honors in Sociology must meet the following conditions:

- A final overall GPA of 3.0 or higher (pending confirmation by the department).
- A final GPA in the major of 3.5 or higher (pending confirmation by the department).
- Earn a grade of “A” on the SOC 4195 research paper.
- Complete a Special Honors Application, which must be signed by the research advisor. The application form can be found on our website at http://sociology.columbian.gwu.edu/undergraduate-programs-declarations
- During your final semester, submit the signed application form to the Sociology Department office assistant in Phillips Hall 409. Questions should be directed to soc@gwu.edu.
- Once the semester is completed, the department will complete the GPA information and submit it to the Registrar’s Office. It will take a few weeks for your Special Honors designation to appear on your University transcript.
The interdisciplinary Law & Society (LSoc) minor is housed in the Department of Sociology and is open to all qualifying GWU undergraduates. The application form can be downloaded from the Law & Society minor webpage. To declare the LSoc minor, bring this application form to a meeting with Fran Buntman (fbuntman@gwu.edu), Director of the Law & Society minor.

The Law & Society minor is structured as follows:

- Admission to the minor requires a 3.3 min GPA, based on at least 30 credit hours at GW
- 18 credit hours (excluding prerequisites)
  - With the exception of prerequisites and SOC 2988 (PSC 2988)*, no more than two courses from a single department may count for the minor
  - No more than two courses may be counted for both the Law & Society minor and any other major or minor
  - SOC 2988 (PSC 2988)* may not double count for another major or minor in addition to the Law & Society minor

Three (3) required foundation courses (9 credits):
- SOC 2167 Sociology of Law
- UW 2031 or UW 2031W Equality and the Law: Intro to Legal Research and Writing
- SOC 2988 (PSC 2988)* Internship in Law & Society
- Note: SOC 2167 and UW 2031/W must be taken prior to or concurrently with SOC 2988

At least one (1) secondary foundation course selected from the following (3 credits):
- AMST 1160 Race, Gender, and Law
- PHIL 3142 Philosophy of Law
- PSC 2214 U.S. Constitutional Law and Politics I
- PSC 2215 U.S. Constitutional Law and Politics II

Two (2) elective courses selected from the following (6 credits):
- Any of the secondary foundation courses listed above
- BADM 4101 Business Law and Ethics
- ECON 3190 Law and Economics
- HIST 3370 U.S. Constitutional History
- MAE 3171 Patent Law for Engineers
- PSC 2213 Judicial Politics
- PSC 2444 Public International Law
- PUBH 3136 Health Law
- SMPA 2173 Media Law
- SOC 2145 Criminal Law
- SOC 2146 Bill of Rights & Criminal Justice
- WSTU 3470 Sexuality and Law
- Other relevant courses (e.g., new or special topics) are subject to the Director’s approval

* Note: as of Spring 2016, SOC 2988 replaces PSC 2988; either course is accepted for the minor

For further information, contact Fran Buntman (fbuntman@gwu.edu).
INDEPENDENT STUDY IN SOCIOLOGY (SOC 3195)
Information and Guidelines

General Information about the Independent Study

The Independent Study in Sociology (Sociology 3195) provides Sociology and Criminal Justice majors with an opportunity to (a) explore in fuller depth or detail an area that a student has encountered in a previous Sociology course or (b) explore an area which is not part of the department’s curriculum in sociology. The first step in doing an independent study is to identify a faculty member or faculty members who may be a good fit with the student’s area of interest. The student should plan to meet with the faculty member to discuss the possibility of conducting an independent study under his or her direction. Faculty members are not obligated to supervise independent studies, though many are willing to do so in areas where they have a special interest or expertise. The second step is to prepare an independent study proposal and to submit that to the faculty member with whom the student would like to work. Guidelines for the required proposal may be found at the bottom of this sheet.

Students may take the independent study course for between 1 and 3 credits. All students doing the independent study must prepare a final research paper. As a general rule,

- a one-credit paper must be between 2500-3000 words, which is about 10 to 12 pages (not including charts, tables, pictures, appendices, the bibliography, or any other back matter).
- a two-credit paper must be between 3800-5000 words, which is about 15 to 20 pages (not including the items noted above).
- a three-credit paper must be between 6000-7500 words, which is about 25 to 30 finished pages (not including the items noted above).

Eligibility for Sociology 3195: Independent Study in Sociology

The Independent Study in Sociology is available to junior and senior level Sociology and Criminal Justice students. It is strongly advised that students seeking to do the independent study have completed at least one semester of research methods (SOC 2101 or SOC 2102).

Proposal Guidelines

In order to register for Sociology 3195, students must prepare an independent study proposal. Students are advised to submit both a hard copy and an electronic copy of the proposed independent study to the prospective project advisor at least 2 weeks before the student intends to register for SOC 3195. The independent study advisor’s approval of the project proposal must be obtained before registration.

The independent study proposal should include the following:

1. A proposal cover sheet indicating your name, major, and year of graduation
2. Proposed title of project paper
3. Introduction
   - What is the key topic/What are the key topics of your research project?
   - What brings you to this topic?
   - What are your research questions?
4. Preliminary literature review and theoretical underpinnings of your project
   - What sociological literature and/or other existing research is relevant to your project?
   - What have other researchers written about this area of inquiry before you?
5. Proposal Conclusion
   - What do you hope to achieve in this independent research project?
   - What is the proposed timeline for the preparation and completion of this project? How often will you meet with your faculty advisor? What do you see as his/her role in your project?
6. Initial bibliography of literature and/or other works to be used in the project
   - This should include 5 to 8 scholarly publications, including books and articles from academic journals. Please avoid overreliance on internet source materials. Your bibliography should be composed primarily of appropriate academic publications.
   - The bibliography should be prepared using the American Sociological Association (ASA) style.

Please begin your proposal well in advance of the time you plan to submit it for consideration to the faculty member with whom you would like to work. Badly organized, poorly written, unclear or incomplete proposals are unlikely to be accepted.
The Department of Sociology at GWU sponsors a chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society. Students are encouraged to learn about AKD, to apply for membership if they qualify, and to participate in making the AKD chapter active and productive.

Alpha Kappa Delta (AKD) is the International Sociology Honor Society. AKD was founded in 1920 at the University of Southern California by Dr. Emory S. Bogardus and became affiliated with the Association of College Honor Societies (ACHS) in 1967. AKD is also affiliated with the American Sociological Society (ASA).

The purpose of Alpha Kappa Delta is to seek to acknowledge and promote excellence in the scholarship in the study of sociology, the research of social problems, and such other social and intellectual activities as will lead to improvement in the human condition.

Alpha Kappa Delta is a non-secret, democratic, international society of scholars dedicated to the ideal of Athropon Katamanthein Diakonesin or "to investigate humanity for the purpose of service."

Membership is open to undergraduate students, graduate students, and faculty members from active chapters who meet our minimum standards. Currently, there are more than 101,000 members in Alpha Kappa Delta and over 630 chapters.

AKD Eligibility

The Alpha Kappa Delta Constitution states that undergraduates must meet the following minimum criteria:

- Must be an officially declared Sociology major or minor.
- Must be at least a junior (third year) student.
- Must have an overall GPA of at least 3.3 on a four point scale.
- Must have a cumulative GPA in Sociology courses of at least 3.3 (note, our department standard is higher than the AKD standard for the Sociology GPA of 3.0)
- Must have completed at least four regular courses in Sociology prior to initiation.

Benefits of AKD Membership (cont’d on next page)
BENEFITS OF AKD MEMBERSHIP

Individual membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, the international sociology honor society, is an honorable achievement. Benefits include:

- Once you have submitted a completed General Membership Application Form, you will receive a certificate of membership and a membership card which show evidence of membership.
- A separate Membership Activation Forms must be submitted to AKD to receive a free one-year subscription to Sociological Inquiry, the official journal of Alpha Kappa Delta.
- Active members have access to the AKD Newsletter, election materials, and other services.
- Alpha Kappa Delta sponsors undergraduate and graduate student paper competitions for members with cash prizes and travel money to participate in the American Sociological Association (ASA) annual meeting:
  - Undergraduate students have the chance to participate in ASA Honors Program.
  - First place winners are eligible to have their papers published in Sociological Inquiry.
- Alpha Kappa Delta provides funding for student travel to present at regional sociological meetings.
- Alpha Kappa Delta provides Chapter Representative travel to assist students presenting at regional sociological meetings.
- Members may purchase honor cords to wear at graduation ceremonies, AKD pins, and other merchandise.
- Alpha Kappa Delta members who become Civil Service employees meet one of the requirements for entrance at the GS-7 level (an increase in pay-grade) if they list AKD membership on their applications (providing they enter at the GS-5 level).
- Alpha Kappa Delta sponsors five people to attend AKD's Symposium on Teaching and Learning held at regional meetings (AKD Symposium on T&L rotates regional meetings each year).
- Membership is for a lifetime. There are no annual dues for members after the initial $40 payment unless one decides to be an active member. Renew today!

If you are interested in joining AKD, please visit the AKD home page at http://www.alphakappadelta.org/ to familiarize yourself with the organization.

Applications for membership must be submitted to the Sociology Department faculty representative of AKD, Prof. Daina Eglitis (dainas@gwu.edu).
COMBINED DEGREE PROGRAM: BA/MA IN SOCIOLOGY

The Department of Sociology offers a Combined Degree Program for undergraduate majors who would like to continue their education in the field. The program enables students to earn both a Bachelor’s and Master’s degree in the major area within five years by counting some coursework toward both degrees.

Students who are admitted to the program are able to take graduate courses during their senior year, and 9 credits will count toward both the BA and MA degrees. This allows for a considerable cost and time savings, and also helps our department retain and further our engagement with our best students.

Students interested in matriculating into the Combined Degree Program:
- must have an overall GPA of 3.40 or better at the time of application;
- must have a GPA of 3.50 or better in the major at the time of application;
- must apply to the graduate portion of the program no later than the spring term of the junior year and after completing 75 undergraduate credits;
- must complete an application form for the Combined Degree Program;
  o The application includes the applicant’s statement-of-interest in the program, a writing sample, three letters of recommendation, and full transcripts of all undergraduate coursework.
  o Three letters of recommendation from faculty members are required. At least two of these letters must come from faculty in the Sociology Department at GW. Letters from Teaching Assistants are not acceptable.
  o Applicants are not required to submit GRE scores.
  o Students apply to CCAS but need not pay the application fee for the MA.
  o Students should submit all application materials to the Director of Graduate Studies in the Department of Sociology, not to CCAS.
- must earn a “B” or better in all graduate courses;
- must complete a thesis as required of all MA students in Sociology;
- will be informed of acceptance into the program in late spring of their junior year.

Students interested in applying for the Combined Degree Program in Sociology should see Prof. Fran Buntman, Director of the Graduate Program in Sociology, for more details (fbuntman@gwu.edu, Phillips Hall 409H).
REQUIREMENTS OF COMBINED BA/MA IN SOCIOLOGY

In addition to the general curriculum requirements of the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, Sociology majors must satisfy the following requirements (39 credits total):

- Prerequisite Sociology Course either SOC 1001 or SOC 1002
- Required Courses in Sociology
  - Sociology 2101  Social Research Methods
  - Sociology 2102  Techniques of Data Analysis
  - Sociology 2103  Classical Sociological Theory
  - Sociology 2104  Contemporary Sociological Theory
  - Sociology 4195  Senior Research Seminar
- Seven additional 2100-level courses in Sociology, including two from the 2160s-2170s courses.

The MA Degree requires each Graduate Student to choose one Major and one Minor in either, Social Inequality, Urban Sociology, or Criminology.

- Three Methods courses: SOC 6230, SOC 6231 and either SOC 6232 or SOC 6240/MGT 6383.
- Two Theory courses: SOC 6238 and SOC 6239.
- Two Thesis courses: SOC 6998 and SOC 6999.
- Two Major Field courses, one Minor Field course, and two other graduate courses:
  - Social Inequality
    - SOC 6245: Race Relations
    - SOC 6246: Comparative Race and Ethnicity
    - SOC 6248: Race and Urban Redevelopment
